Robin has consistently delivered on critical video projects, with the utmost professionalism, despite the less than practical asks that he is often presented with. He has brought many ideas and post it note stick figures to life from marketing needs, product tutorials, safety onboarding, security awareness, contractor training, COVID-19 safety, to most recently our acceptance and thank you video for EHS "Americas Safest Companies" national award ceremony. As Robin has been a vital part of our video endeavors, I would highly recommend him for yours.

The 2020 pandemic certainly provided challenges to the world of fundraising and forced so many to reinvent the traditional methods of doing things. Robin Gilmore not only provided his fabulous professional skills in assisting our transition to a livestream event but also gave us the confidence and comfort that assured us that all would be well! I have had the pleasure of working with Robin in various filming sessions for corporate events and he has always put together top-notch productions. His generous and professional contributions to the nonprofit sector are above and beyond and have taught us so much. Robin is a five-star cameraman and editor - and as an extra bonus, he is so much fun to work with! We are very grateful for Robin!

Maryanne Parsons, Founder & President, Partners in Outreach

I have had the pleasure on multiple occasions to have Robin Gilmore and his crew assist me in conducting and capturing the personal stories of Vietnam Veterans that are part of the Vietnam War exhibit at the Pennsylvania Veterans Museum in Media, PA. I found him to be a very natural fit for this project because he is a terrific collaborator as well as an incredibly talented Director of Photography. His past military experience is a wonderful asset in gaining the trust and openness of our interview subjects.

Ed Buffman, Pennsylvania Veterans Museum
